

Economic Ideas Forum

Thursday, April 18, 2019

PURCE's annual Economic Ideas Forum showcases our faculty and, this year, brings to campus U.S. trade policy expert Dr. Doug Irwin.

This day-long event is a unique opportunity for concerned members of the community to hear the latest research on topics ranging from the opioid crisis to the unintended effects of regulation to discrimination in the labor market.

PLEASE JOIN US THURSDAY, APRIL 18

- 1:30-5:00 p.m.: Interactive PURCE faculty sessions in Rawls Hall
- 5:30-7:00 p.m.: Evening fireside chat in Purdue's Fowler Hall with Irwin; David Hummels, the Dr. Samuel R. Allen Dean of the Krannert School of Management; and Krannert Associate Dean Dr. David Schoorman

- Empirical Analysis
- Public Policy
- Societal Well-Being

PURCE creates and shares unbiased, data-driven insights into how laws, regulations and government programs affect the market economy and the well-being of individuals and society.

We engage policymakers, community groups, fellow academics, business leaders and media by hosting luncheons featuring PURCE faculty discussing their research, our annual Forum, guest lectures and more.

Our research has several focus areas, including crime, education, taxation, and trade.

HOW TO GET INVOLVED

- Attend PURCE events
- Sponsor fellowships for Ph.D. students
- Provide data for faculty research
- Donate toward our mission
- Fund professorships to expand our ability to produce research
