Purdue University Libraries and School of Information Studies, in Collaboration with Campus Partners and Stanford University, to Host Women in Data Science Conference

Monday, March 2, 2020
8 a.m.- 5 p.m.
East/West Faculty Lounges, Purdue Memorial Union

The third annual Women in Data Science (WiDS) at Purdue University is set for Monday, March 2 in the Purdue Memorial Union.

Started at Stanford in 2015, the WiDS initiative aims to inspire and educate data scientists worldwide, regardless of gender, and support women in the field. The annual global conference is now held in conjunction with many other entities around the world. At Purdue, the goal is to help build a community focused on data science and to inspire and raise awareness among students and community members about the opportunities for women in the data science field.

The day long conference is set from 8 a.m.-5 p.m. The conference is open and free to all.
Registration will open on January 27, 2020.
